Victory Made a Difference.

During the allied occupation of Germany, an amusing encounter took place between a British soldier and a German baroness.

The baroness, writes Miss Violet R. Maricham in "Watching on the Rhine," told a British officer that one of his men insulted her. Indeed, she declared, she had never been so insulted in her life. The officer at once began inquiries and finally learned that the lady had found two British soldiers whistling and sliding down the banisters of her back stairs. She had told them sharply that whistling and sliding on the banisters were verboten. Whereupon Thomas Atkins, genial and undefeated, had turned to her and remarked pleasantly, "Aye, missus, but yer should have won the war, and then yer could have come and slid down our back stairs and whistled."

The Modern Way.

Blinkums needs a new motor car. The old bus is about jood. It rattles in the transmission and jumps in the rear. The engine pumps oil like a gusher. The valve taps sound like a battle of snaredrums. The top is as handsome as an old umbrella, and has stopped risking bumps with his tires.

The mortgage is overdue on the house, which needs a roof, and a company is doing pretty slow business this year. His wife is wearing last year's clothes, and his one suit has long forgotten the feel of a nap. They are eating storage eggs and buying butter seconds, because the grocery bill is something fierce.

But Mr. Blinkums needs a new car, and this prophet lays ten to one he gets it.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Just Like a Woman.

A Fullerton man says he gets two eggs from a single hen. His plan is ingenious and might be worth trying on a larger scale, so we print it for the benefit of some of our suburban readers.

He has arranged a mirror opposite Biddy's nest, so that when she hops off and cackles she sees in the glass what she supposes is another hen cackling. This arouses her jealousy and not to be outdone by a supposed rival she jumps back on the nest and lays another egg.—Los Angeles Times.

We shall not grow enthusiastic until some statesman comes along with a scheme to make the world perfect without soaking the taxpayer.—Newark Ledger.

To help promote good health see that the articles you use in your bakings give you—

Food containing gluten which is vital to your vitality.

Gluten is the soul of flour

—the real nutritive element. It is gluten that builds health, strength, and makes robust children and healthy men and women.

Why take a chance on losing the full value of this gluten? Good, wholesome bakings can be made only from good materials—no other way—so use only good baking powder and plain flour for best results.

Don't use substitutes such as self-rising flour, Cake Mixes, and Egg Savers (so-called).

The safe course which is pointed out to the family physician is to recommend pure plain flour and a baking powder of standard quality, and to be especially watchful in all cases of malnutrition to be sure the diet carries strength giving properties.

For best results use—
Calumet Baking Powder and a good plain flour.
